DETAILED PROGRAM DESCRIPTIONS

Pilas is a family literacy program for Latino families with children aged 0-13, designed to involve the entire family in their children’s educational success. Participants are families who speak Spanish as their native language, and have kids who will be entering or have already entered the school system and are at high risk of falling behind. Pilas offers culturally-appropriate classes, divided by suitable age ranges to best facilitate learning. The curriculum for each class caters to the specific needs of its respective age range: young children receive instruction that helps them prepare to enter school with grade-appropriate knowledge and social-emotional skills, older children get help with homework and practice reading and math, and adults learn and improve their English language skills. Parents who can help with homework, attend school activities, read bulletins, conference with teachers, and generally navigate the school system can much better support their children. As well, we offer a weekly family activity as a component of the program to encourage the entire family to work and learn together.

During the academic year, Pilas offers participants two 10-week sessions of literacy skill-building and language acquisition courses at sites in Springfield and in the Bethel area of Eugene. Classes are taught two evenings a week at each site for the duration of the 10-week sessions, held in the fall and spring terms. The program has been offered for the past eight years.

Pasos al Futuro is a summer youth leadership and career transitioning program for Latino youth. Offered in coordination with Lane Community College’s Puertas Abiertas program, the 3-week program offers workshops covering topics such as college admission requirements, college academic programs, and available support services, with a focus on identifying positive, proactive values and habits that will maximize students’ opportunities for success. The program is designed within a cultural framework based on Chicano/Mexicano, Hispanic, Latino/a, and Caribbean experiences. Students complete a portfolio containing scholarship applications and essays, college applications, résumés, and a financial plan. Participants also participate in job-shadowing with businesses and organizations in our community. The program has been offered for the past seven years.
