November 7-9, 2013, University of Oregon
CSWS 40th Anniversary Celebration

Join the Center for the Study of Women in Society for a three-day event celebrating forty years of feminist research, teaching, and activism at the University of Oregon. Tracing a trajectory of feminist research, teaching, activism, and creativity in the past, present, and future, event highlights include:

Nov. 7 – Agents of Change documentary premiere and opening celebration

Nov. 8 – “Women’s Stories, Women’s Lives” symposium organized around four decades of feminism

Nov. 8 – Evening keynote, “A Conversation with Ursula K. Le Guin”

Nov. 9 – “Worlds Beyond World” symposium devoted to feminist science fiction and utopian thought

Funded in part by the Sally Miller Gearhart Fund, the celebration is presented in collaboration with the Department of Women’s and Gender Studies and ASUO Women’s Center. Due to limited seating, ticketing by Oct. 23 is required for all events, which are free and open to the public. Please visit csws.uoregon.edu for information.
