Agents of Change chronicles the development of the UO Center for the Study of Women in Society and the UO Department of Women's and Gender Studies within the broader context of the women's movement. Through a combination of archival footage, photographs, documents, and interviews, Agents of Change provides new insights into the efforts and challenges women faculty across the nation faced in their efforts to draw attention to women's histories, issues, and concerns and to create a program for the study of women. Director / producer Gabriela Martínez is associate director of CSWS and associate professor in the UO School of Journalism and Communication.
